Conditions in the local hop market remains practically the same as they were Saturday. The hop growers' association reports the manufacture of considerable activity, with no deals being closed, the price continuing steady at from 11 to 11 1/2 cents.

The official score of the membership of the membership contest between the Salem and Eugene Y. M. associations is as follows: Eugene 34,800; Salem 102,820. General Elliott defeated General Rowland by about forty thousand points, which was more than Eugene scored.

A. M. Clough, the county coroner, motored to Mill City Sunday to bring Mrs. Workman, daughter of Mrs. Margaret White, who died here Saturday morning, to this city. Mr. Clough reports the roads excellent except four miles this side of Mehama, which he says is rocky and rough and needs lots of work.

The car shortage combined with other things has resulted in an increase in the price of cord wood in this market. Second growth fir is now selling for $4.50 a cord in four foot length, and old fir is selling for $5.50. The price of four foot oak is $6.00. This is an increase of 50 cents a cord.

A. A. Mickle, Southern Pacific freight agent, who was ill the latter part of last week with a severe cold, is about his work again at the freight house. When he arrived at the office he found a fine China pheasant on his desk all ready to take home and get ready to cook. He says he is going to have a big feed tonight.

A big parade is being planned by the Salem W. O. W. for Wednesday evening when Silverton and Dallas Woodmen will welcome Head Consul I. I. Bask, who comes here on that date. A band is to be secured and all three camps will appear in the procession through the city streets.

The time for filing petitions of candidacy in the city primaries expired October 6. Only one candidate of those mentioned for various offices in the city government failed to file his completed petition in time. This was F. A. Boyington, who has been announced as a candidate for alderman from the 5th ward.

J. R. Fouch, of Travers City, Mich., arrived in Salem yesterday on a business trip. He was a former resident of Falls City and is well-known in the Willamette valley. From here he will go to Raymond, Wash. He left his home in Michigan last Thursday morning and has found exceptionally fine weather all the way out west.

J. W. Jones, advertising manager of the Capital Journal, will speak to the business men's league Tuesday evening at its regular monthly meeting on the subject of "Advertising." Mr. Jones is an expert in the line of advertising and it is expected he will give the business men a thoroughly interesting talk. After the address, matters of business will come up for discussion.

Fire this morning between 5 and 6 o'clock destroyed the prune dryer belonging to Oscar Fry, about three miles west of this city in Polk county. The dryer contained approximately seven tons of prunes. Mr. Fry's loss is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $3,000. It is understood that the dryer was partially insured.

Launched at noon today with a luncheon in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, the annual financial campaign of the Salem association began with a rush that is expected to carry the committee through to success in record breaking time. Forty business men comprise the committee that will raise the funds for the coming year's work. The campaign is expected to last about ten days.

At eight o'clock this evening the Salem Rifle club will assemble in the city hall for drill under Captain Rosenberg. Yesterday the members of the club were on the rifle range at Finzer and the following qualified as marksmen under the National Rifle association regulations: H. A. Freeland, J. G. Kenneon, J. C. The case of S. T. Northcutt, an old man of Turner, who was first declared incompetent to handle his business affairs by County Judge Bushey but who was declared competent by Judge Galoway, which decision was appealed from by Northcutt's daughter, came up before the Oregon supreme court this afternoon. Judge C. L. McNary argued the case, which has been in the Marion county courts for over two years.

A churchful of interested people listened to the lecture of Wm. L. Finlay, state biologist, at the First Congregational church last night. Mr. Finlay's lecture was illustrated by moving pictures, showing birds, angling scenes, antelope and elk. Mr. Finlay's work as a co-operating agent of the state fish and game commission and the department of public instruction is very valuable to the state. He will deliver the lecture at Dallas tonight.

Repairs are being made on the steamer Gray Eagle, of the Spaulding Logging company's river fleet, in preparation of the opening of the towing season. The steamer will be engaged in towing logs down the river from the mouth of the Luckiamute to the mill here. The work will begin as soon as the river rises, which will be about November. Captain T. B. Jones, who has been captain of the Gray Eagle and the City of Eugene for about 15 years, is in charge. The steamer brings about 150,000 feet of lumber at one tow.

Hunters are reporting the game to be quite scarce, according to information brought by numerous hunters from their experiences of Sunday. Some have been able to get a few birds while others have not been able to secure any. It is believed that the severe snow of last winter killed numbers of the old birds in that they became the prey of wild animals. The wet spring and summer was also unfavorable to the young birds and it is believed numbers of them perished on this account.

An address on "The Saxon and Sea Supremacy," by Rev. James Elvin, was the treat of the Salem minister at the regular weekly meeting of the ministerial association at the Y. M. C. A. this morning. A discussion of the program for supplying the state institutions with preachers each week during the year was the main business of the session. Arrangements were made to fill the dates three Sundays in each month with protestant ministers while the Catholic priest filled the fourth. A minister was detailed each month for duty with the Salem hospital who is to be ready for any emergency call.

Adds to the Joy of Living

It isn't alone the deliciously sweet nut-like taste of Grape-Nuts that has made the food famous, though taste makes first appeal, and goes a long way. But with the zestful flavor there is in Grape-Nuts the entire nutriment of finest wheat and barley. And this includes the rich mineral elements of the grain, necessary for vigorous health--the greatest joy of life. Every table should have its daily ration of Grape-Nuts

"There's a Reason"

SALEM'S EYE SPECIALIST BEGINS HIS SIXTH YEAR OF SUCCESSFUL PRACTICE

Dr. M. P. Mendelsohn, who has been in Salem for the last five years, now owns a beautiful home situated in one of Salem's most exclusive building districts, and says: "Salem is a good enough place for any one." And intends to continue his practice in Salem.

He has recently rented additional rooms in the United States National Bank Bldg. and has enlarged his offices and arranged them to best suit his practice. Not only has the Doctor enlarged his offices, but he has bought a large amount of new office equipments, among them, the latest instruments for the correction of defective eyesight that science can produce. These new instruments are installed at an outlay of hundreds of dollars, but the satisfaction of knowing that you are absolutely always right in your treatment and correction of defective vision is worth the money, and each and every patron of Dr. Mendelsohn's is always assured of getting correctly fitted lenses at his office.

Dr. Mendelsohn is a graduate of medicine from Heidelberg College, but took up the practice of Optometry in preference to that of medicine, as he says there is a larger field in the correction of defective eyesight than any other field. The Doctor's early training taught him thoroughness in every thing he attempted and has always been thorough in every case that came to his notice. He never hesitates to offer advice along anything connected in his line. This and many other reasons among them the very moderate charges he makes for his services is responsible for the large practice he now enjoys.

Dr. Mendelsohn has over fifteen thousand satisfied patrons on his books today and they represent some of the most severe cases of eye defects known to the practice. Among them were cases of children who if they had not had the proper corrections made would have gone through life in a very much handicapped way. He has made the study of children's eyes a specialty and has successfully corrected thousands of children's eyes. He does not use drugs or drops in making examinations and after making an examination he finds glasses are not needed he will frankly tell you. Satisfaction is guaranteed in every respect, and he will change your lenses free of charge for one year if they are needed.

Dr. Mendelsohn will always be pleased to consult with you in regard to your eye troubles, and will always give you his honest opinion in regard to your particular case. The Doctor extends a cordial invitation to all of his friends and former patrons to visit his new offices any time that they can conveniently do so.

Five of the record-breaking Oregon agricultural hens, which were on exhibition at the Oregon state fair, were sent by express this morning to Pullman, Wash., where they will take part in the Northwest Laying contest. What these hens will do in foreign territory is not known but if they live up to their reputation it is expected they will give Washington biddies a run as exciting as the world series baseball games.

Dr. B. H. White, wife and family, a boy and a daughter, who left here a few weeks ago to spend the winter studying osteopathy in Los Angeles, returned today on the Shasta limited to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Margaret White, who died Saturday night at 11 o'clock. Mr. White left Salem by automobile and six days later was in Los Angeles, located in his school had rooms, and had the children started to school.

Says Only One. Newport, R. I., Oct. 9--Admiral Gleaves today stated to the United Press that he was confident there was only one German submarine in the waters off Nantucket. DO YOU SUFFER FROM BACKACHE? When your kidneys are weak and torpid they do not properly perform their functions; your back aches and you do not feel like doing much of anything. You are likely to be despondent and to borrow trouble, just as if you hadn't enough already. Don't be a victim any longer. The old reliable medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, gives strength and tone to the kidneys and builds up the whole system. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar combination of roots, barks and herbs. No other medicine acts like it, because no other medicine has the same formula or ingredients. Accept no substitute, but insist on having Hood's, and get it today.
